Jasmine Green was a kind and caring girl. She loved animals of all shapes and sizes, but she had a special place in her heart for cats. One day, Jasmine was playing in the park when she heard a tiny meow. She followed the sound and found a small, abandoned kitten. The kitten was thin and hungry, and its fur was matted with dirt.

Jasmine knew that she couldn't leave the kitten there all alone. She gently picked it up and took it home to her family. Jasmine's parents were just as kind and caring as she was, and they welcomed the kitten into their home with open arms.

Jasmine named the kitten Holly, and she nursed her back to health. She gave Holly plenty of food and water, and she brushed her fur until it was soft and shiny. Holly quickly became a part of the Green family, and she loved playing with Jasmine and her siblings.

One day, Holly was playing in the backyard when she got into a fight with another cat. Holly was much smaller than the other cat, and she was badly injured. Jasmine's parents rushed Holly to the vet, where she was treated for her injuries.

Holly made a full recovery, and she was soon back to her old self. Jasmine was so grateful to the vet for saving Holly's life, and she decided that she wanted to be a veterinarian when she grew up.

Jasmine Green Rescues Kitten Called Holly is a heartwarming tale of courage and compassion. This beautifully illustrated children's book tells the story of Jasmine, a young girl who finds an abandoned kitten and takes her home. With the help of her family, Jasmine nurses the kitten back to health and gives her a loving home. This book is perfect for children ages 3-7 who love animals and stories about kindness and friendship.
