When children are hurting, parents want to help. But it's not always easy to know what to do or say. This book provides practical advice and support for parents of children who are struggling with emotional or mental health issues.

In this book, you'll learn about:

- The different types of emotional and mental health issues that children can experience
- The signs and symptoms to look for
- How to talk to your child about their feelings
- How to help your child cope with their emotions
- When to seek professional help

This book is written by a team of experts in child psychology and mental health. They have years of experience helping children and families cope with emotional and mental health challenges.

If you're a parent of a child who is hurting, this book is for you. It will provide you with the information and support you need to help your child heal.
